7/16/21	ZOOM Take and Make Storytime On designated Fridays in July and August we are offering a ZOOM storytime with a craft. Patrons that sign up to "attend" stop by the library in the days before and pick up the craft supplies. At the end of storytime, we do the craft together while on ZOOM.	10

Agency Visits to the Library

This summer, M. Hancock is conducting a special Summer Reading Program for the girls at Girls, Inc. Girls in K – 4 visit the library weekly for storytelling or a reading and an activity. Molly created reading logs for each girl participating. Girls that read at least 3 days during their "reading week" get raffle tickets for the library's end of SRP raffles. Girls that meet the weekly goal for at least 3 of the weeks of the program will earn a reward at the conclusion of the Summer Reading Program.

This summer, M. Hancock is conducting a special Summer Reading Program for the Recreation Department's site at the Reilly School. It is for children K -4. The children are divided into two groups and their reading is tracked as a group. Using donated books, Molly, provided an in-house library of reading books. The children can read on their own, to each other, or have a counselor read to groups of children. The groups must read at least 3 days for their reading week. If the groups meet the reading goal for all the weeks of the Summer Reading Program, the children will earn a reward. During the weekly visits, Molly tells stories and/or reads aloud to the children. They also participate in activities and crafts.

Grab and Go Crafts*

Apparently MBLC does not allow us to include in our stats but I am including in this report because they are a lot of work to put together and patrons really like them.
